

DAT1 allele: One member of a pair or series of genes located at a specific position on a chromosome affecting the expression of a particular trait. If paired alleles are the same, the organism is said to be homozygous for that trait; if they are different, the organism is heterozygous.